

Heartbeat Highlights: Your Pulse on All Things Touching Hearts!

Care Partner Chronicles...

We're honored to share a heartfelt story from Eric and Peter, whose mother has been a Touching Hearts at Home client for over two years. After their father passed and their mother's Alzheimer's progressed, Eric and Peter, both living out of state, needed a way to support her without the disruption of moving her away from home. They were initially concerned that finding the right Care Partner might be challenging, but from day one, our team found the perfect match. Her Care Partner quickly became a trusted presence in her life, helping with daily medications, appointments, and companionship, which gave Eric and Peter peace of mind.

Because of our Care Partner's genuine connection and support, their mother has been able to remain in her home, maintaining her independence and quality of life. Now, as she transitions to assisted living, the Care Partner has made this next step a positive one, giving her something to look forward to. It's stories like these that reinforce our mission at Touching Hearts at Home—providing compassionate, reliable care that truly makes a difference.

Client and Care Partner Spotlight:

Mary Grace and Marian are an unstoppable duo—like a modern-day Laverne and Shirley. Whether they’re enjoying activities at the senior community or picking out the perfect pumpkin, their bond is undeniable. We’re grateful for the staff who help build such a strong community. This Thanksgiving, some of our care partners will be spending the day with clients, making meals and creating memories. When families can’t be there, Touching Hearts is. Wishing you and your loved ones a Happy Thanksgiving!

The Holidays Are Here—And So Are We

Tess here! The holiday season is a time of celebration and connection, but we understand it can also bring unique challenges. Whether it’s ensuring a loved one has companionship, assistance with daily activities, or simply peace of mind, Touching Hearts at Home is here for you. Our phone is never off, and we pride ourselves on making quick, seamless connections—even during the holidays. If you or someone you know needs compassionate, reliable care, don’t wait. Reach out today, and let us help bring comfort and support to your family this season.
